Although there are a few students who would prefer having a basebail team, interest in the game here is small, and for the past 20 years, the school has been represented in but two is peculiar to the schools which combasball here is due entirely to lack of interest and a belief that baseball and track cannot both be carried on in the school. The long omission of baseball has led to a belief that the season is too short to permit playing, but this is contradicted by the fact that teams further north and in the immediate vicinity play out a schedule of from eight to a dozen games. The situation has resolved itself into one in which baseball is omitted, the only game in which a promising athlete can devote himself to in future with profit.
